

Costa Nova collaborates with floral designer

The Portuguese stoneware brand partners with the star of haute couture Christian Tortu on a new collection inspired by the French Riviera

Costa Nova, a Portuguese brand recognised for outstanding quality and unique products in fine stoneware, has partnered with internationally-renowned floral designer Christian Tortu, whose unexpected creations can be found in boutiques around the world and have been featured at famous events such as catwalks for Chanel, Dior and Valentino.

The new partnership has given birth to a brand-new collection of tableware, Riviera. Christian was directly inspired by the Riviera, the famous French and Italian region, in designing the collection.

When designing this collection, a full dinner set and decorative pieces, Christian imagined this moments we share, when tables are being set where we will eat and drink, talk about the world or simply dream.

By mixing shapes and colours of the Riviera landscape, Christian has created a captivating collection, with a unique style, able to transcribe the sublime faces of this region. This promise of gentleness, fragrances and colours, ever changing as the hours of the day go by, has been translated to tableware.
